Subject: Gaymers Car Park

Hi

I turned up at 7am at Gaymers Meadow main car park off the industrial estate, to find strewn across the floor:

- 1) Polystyrene take away containers (can only be from the Hi her Hut - mobile food van parks outside old Brantaq facility by railway station).
- 2) Beer bottles and cardboard pack wrappers x 2 and tobacco pouch just left in middle of tarmac, some bottles thrown by fence and broken.
- 3) Smashed glass all across area to right as you enter and on hedge side.

I have cleared as much up as I could, but we are seeing early evening times a couple of cars with late teenagers in, eating, drinking and smoking cannabis.

There are regular small groups of 2-6 Young people at a time who sit on the benches (far side/by field in both sections of Gaymers Meadow to smoke cannabis.

I'm not sure what can be done as the Police regard this as low level and are likely to respond.

Not sure if the council has any ideas on how if anything can be done to cut this down.

Regards

Subject: Potential benches outside Bank House and Cottages
Importance: High

Good morning

I have today been advised that a suggestion has been made to install a couple of benches on the grass outside my, and my neighbours, properties, adjacent to the old Barclays Bank building. We would all obviously be strongly objecting to this, should it be true, however as the Council use this piece of land to park their working vehicles on whilst cutting grass in the square, I suspect this is just a silly rumour.

If you could kindly confirm, I would be most grateful.

I own the middle of the three red brick cottages.

Kind regards

Dear Sir/Madam,

It has come to my attention that the Town Council plan to place picnic benches on the green directly outside our houses.

Understandingly this has caused my husband and I great concern.

I now the land belongs to the Council, but it does not give you the right to impinge on our privacy and peace of mind, as this would mean groups of people assembling directly outside our homes.

How would you feel if this occurred directly outside your home.

I hope you will reconsider this ludicrous idea.

I look forward to your reply,

Yours faithfully
Mrs ██████████

Email from Allotment Holder (first)

Dear Attleborough town council

I recently came onto my allotment plot xxxxxx to discover that my plum tree has been severely pruned back. I have no proof of who did this but i suspect that it is the neighbour (xxxxxxxx) as i do not believe it in anyone else's interests to do this. I do not object to someone wanting to cut back any branches that over hang their plot. What i do object to is someone coming onto my without prior permission (no permission has been sought from Mr xxx. I have hardly had a conversation with him.

Not only have overhanging branches been cut but the tree has been severely pruned into the trunk (please see photographs).

I believe that Mr xxxxxx has not the right to step onto my allotment without due permission to carry out work. The tree has been damaged and so a good portion of crop has been lost. This is not the first time this has happened. I emailed you about a situation last year about the same tree. After an initial email back to me there was no suggestion of what you had intended to do. I would like to know how you intend to deal with this?

I have not approached Mr xxxxxxxx as i want to go through the correct channels.

I expect to hear from you within the week as you will appreciate i am not happy.

I am attaching photographs.

Yours faithfully,

Good afternoon,

I got down to my allotment early before work this morning at about 6.15am. I have been unable to get down there recently [REDACTED], so I have limited spare time due to being a key worker working full time and having to do the cooking, cleaning, shopping etc. At around 7.30am after taking a break from doing some much needed weeding and about to fill my watering can I was approached by [REDACTED] who said, "Did your friend tell you why I called him a cunt?" ([REDACTED])

To put this into context I believe he was referring to a conversation he had had with [REDACTED] earlier this week when [REDACTED] had used the c-word against Mr [REDACTED] after Mr [REDACTED] enquired about the pruning of the cherry tree.

I told him I did not want to discuss that issue saying that it has nothing to do with me. He then repeated his initial question with a similar one. Again using the c word. I told him again that I didn't want to discuss it with him. He tried again. I told him "please to stop as I find the word offensive."

I do not understand why he continued to provoke me to try and get a response. It was as if he wanted an argument and I was there to work and relax at the allotment.

He also started to quote something from the Bible and asked me to tell this to [REDACTED]. I told him I didn't want to get drawn into this conversation.

We then discussed the use of the c-word and he said it is a word in the Queens English and he doesn't mind using it. I asked if he'd use it in public and he said yes. I asked if he'd use it in front of my 8 year old son. And he said "Of course not".

He then said he used the c word towards [REDACTED] "to deliberately cause offense".

I'm afraid then I raised my voice and told him what I thought about the situation. Saying that deliberately using the c-word was just nasty. He seemed to enjoy the fact he had finally got a reaction out of me.

I then reminded [REDACTED] that the last time I was at the allotment ([REDACTED]) that I knew Mr [REDACTED] was working more hours than normal to support vulnerable people during the COVID outbreak which was why he hadn't found as much time as he'd like to come to allotment. I then told [REDACTED] that if he wanted the cherry tree pruning back then he could have talked to me to see if I could pass on the message.

I also let him know that going onto someone else's allotment is against the allotment rules. Chopping down branches of a fruiting tree is certainly against the rules. I also said I'm sure swearing at your allotment neighbour is against the rules.

I understand that you send warning letters to people if they breach the rules. I would request that you do so in this case in all haste.

I had planned to go to the allotment this evening with my family [REDACTED]. I will try to get down there but I am now fearful that [REDACTED] will be there and bring all this back up again. I found him very intimidating.

Yours sincerely,

Dear

I am writing to express our sincere thanks to Attleborough Town Council for the kind donation of £250.00 to the new Priscilla Bacon Hospice appeal.

Since the launch of the appeal in 2019, a tremendous response from the people of Norfolk and Waveney means over £6.5 million has been raised. This donation helps us get ever closer to our goal of £12.5 million.

The new Priscilla Bacon Hospice will be situated on land adjacent to the Norfolk & Norwich University Hospital. It will offer 24 inpatient beds, alongside improved day care and outpatients' facilities. It will serve as a coordination centre for the 'Hospice at Home' team, who deliver care - particularly in rural areas. The hospice will also be a platform for education and research into end-of-life care, supporting improvements in provision locally and nationally.

Thank you for helping to build the future of hospice care in Norfolk.

Kind regards
